Inspired by everything from Versailles and touchscreen tech to FI's most celebrated tracks, this season's stylish pieces chosen by Aston Martin are sure to impress

DIOR JEWELLERY Taking inspiration from the private rooms, concealed doors and secret passages of Versailles, Dior's latest High Jewellery collection, Dior à Versailles, Pièces Secrètes, explores how the private side of the palace is hidden from prying eyes. Playing on this idea, pieces such as this Volupté Beryl ring feature compartments covered by highly decorated, traditionally set façades. dior.com

MATHIEU LEHANNEUR DUMB-BELLS Fascinated by the materiality of marble, French designer Mathieu Lehanneur creates surprising pieces such as these sleek "Take It Heavy" dumb-bells. Playing with texture, the dumb-bells combine sleek handles with matt weighted sides for a raw yet polished aesthetic. As practical as they are pretty, this set will make working out that much more appealing. mathieulehanneur.fr

RICHARD ANDERSON JACKET Cut a dash with a Cheviot cloth jacket from Richard Anderson. Made using a wool sourced from the Scottish borders, the Cheviot cloth is more durable and crease-proof than other fabrics – perfect for the sartorial gentleman who wishes to look as impeccable after a drive as he did beforehand. TAG HEUER WATCH For a watch that is as smart as it is stylish, Tag's latest connected watch is just the ticket. At just 41mm in diameter, the Tag Heuer Connected Modular 41 is smaller than the brand's previous 45 model, but packs a punch with 8 GB of storage and 1 GB of RAM. With interchangeable steel or coloured leather straps, the watch can be customised or fitted with a mechanical module. tagheuer.com

IVAR LONDON WATCH BOX Handmade in Italy from fine lacquered veneers, birchwood and MDF, Ivar London's FI watch boxes are decorated with the shape of some of the world's most celebrated circuits, including Monza (pictured) and Silverstone. Surrounded by colourful marquetry, the tracks are depicted in pale grey veneer enclosed in black or gold detailing. ivarlondon.com

MUJJO GLOVES Crafted from matt black Ethiopian lambskin and Egyptian cotton, Mujjo's leather crochet touchscreen gloves combine fine materials with nanotechnology, enabling the wearer to use their touchscreen devices while wearing them. Mimicking the conductive properties of skin, the gloves' touchscreen capabilities extend not only to every finger, but also to the palm of the hand. mujjo.com
